

CALIFORNIA DREAMING

"This is the story of learning off the leash. Of what happens when people make the simple choice to take the risk, to take the leap and trust, to create value for each other, to be interdependent, to be entrepreneurs without businesses, to be outlaws and trade in that most dangerous commodity of all: Hope."

David Preston

There are funny, frustrating, lovely, and sad bits, and in the end there is a real take home message for all of us.
The possibilities are real, and yes you can.
